

Alexander and moved to Gainesville, TX until 1940 when he was drafted to the navy. While stationed in Oakland met Bob Geddings (Down Town, Gilt Edge, Down Beat, and Irma labels). Started recording with him in 1946. One of his great interpretations came in 1950 when he redid Memphis Slim's "Nobody Loves Me" as "Everyday I Have the Blues," an important tune in the repertoire of hundreds of blues artists.

Funderburgh, Anson

b. 11/14/54 Plano, TX. Played with several bands in the 70s before forming the rockets in 1978 with Darrell Nulisch. When Nulisch left in 1986 he added Sam Myers until his death July 17, 2006. (Sidelight: Mike Judge was a member of the Rockets before a little doodling he like to do on the road became a little TV show called Butt-head and Beavis. Anson has said there are those who think that Mike modelled Butt-head's likeness after Anson).
